MERIT NEWS

(b) Education of Mohyal Youth In line with our motto, no Mohyal Child should be deprived of education for want of funds, there was a lively discussion and the House unanimously agreed that education of underprivileged children upto class XII, should be responsibility of GMS. Simultaneously it was suggested, we should explore other avenues like Banks and financial institutions for higher studies. A note by Shri Ravi Dutt Bali, retd as Chief Mgr Oriental Bank of Commerce, on the subject is appearing in this Issue. While the status quo will be maintained for the time being, the proposal is sought to be looked into in right earnest. Some members felt that the children receiving financial aid should give an undertaking that once they are settled down in a suitable job, they will consider to refund the amount to help the other needy children in future to maintain financial rotation. The proposal was deferred for further probing, but in the meantime everyone felt that a seminar be called of those who have availed GMS assistance to welcome them and assess their views on the subject and evaluate the proposal.

(c) Mohyal Ashram at Haridwar Rzd B D Bali outlined the proposal to build up one more floor at Mohyal Ashram Haridwar which was the need of the hour due to heavy rush particularly in the season of about 7/8 months. The proposal will provide about 20 rooms, 10 rooms each on A and B blocks with all the facilities and should be a boon for the Community in the future. Everyone welcomed the proposal and were happy to note that five donations have already been received for the project. Hopefully we will start the project towards end of the year, once our Bhawan at Yamuna Nagar is completed and dedicated to the service of the Community.

(d) Mohyal Youth Camp It was suggested that, there is a long gap after Vrindavan Youth Camp and a youth camp be organised at the earliest. There was a lively discussion on the subject led by Rzd B D Bali who felt that youth camps are not really confined to the younger generation and tend to become "Melas" of all age groups and do not inspire or motivate the youth and fulfill the objective we have in mind to garner the youth. He suggested that instead of a youth camp, we should organise conclaves in small groups of young people with dedication to the cause of the community and plan excursions, sports/cultural programme, and other activities will provide an opportunity for much closer bonding with each other and the fraternity. The proposal was appreciated by everyone and Gen G L Bakshi / Shri P K Dutta / Shri Yogesh Mehta undertook to see it through.

The meeting ended with a vote of thanks to the Chair and recitation of Shanti Path, which was followed by lunch.

EDUCATION LOAN SCHEME

One of the major concerns of the Government is to ensure that nobody is denied professional education because he or she is poor. The Indian Banks Association (IBA) has formulated a comprehensive model education loan scheme for adoption by all Banks aimed at providing financial support to deserving / meritorious students for pursuing higher education in India and abroad.

The Government of India has now approved a scheme to provide full interest subsidy during the period of moratorium i.e. course period plus one year or six months after getting job whichever is earlier on loans taken by students belonging to Economically Weaker Sections (i.e. Students whose total family income is less than Rs.450000/ per annum) from Banks under the Education Loan Scheme. The subsidy is allowed only once. THE STUDENTS WHO HAVE NOT YET CLAIMED THIS SUBSIDY MAY DO SO NOW.

Under this scheme loan is sanctioned to a student who is an Indian National, Meritorious and secures admission to a higher education course in an institute recognized by a statutory body in India or abroad through entrance test/ merit based selection process.

All the Institutions have been categorized into three categories namely Category A (includes IITs IIMs National law institute), Category B (includes Indian institute of foreign trade ICFAI, NIT, IIT Guwahati) and others. A complete list may be downloaded from IBA site.

The loan under this scheme is available at very simple terms. Upto a loan of Rs.4,00,000/ neither collateral security nor any margin is required. For loan above Rs.4,00,000/ and upto Rs.7,50,000/ only the personal guarantee of one reputed person is required and above Rs.7,50,000/ a collateral security is required. On loans above Rs.4 lakh a margin of 5% is required for studies in India and 15% for studies abroad while no margin is required for category A and B Courses.

Components of loan include Fee payable to institute, Reasonable lodging and boarding charges, Examination fee, Insurance premium, caution deposit, Travel expenses/passage money for studies abroad/college bus fare in case of studies in India, Purchase of Computers essential for completion of the course, Purchase of books/ equipment /instruments/uniforms.

For category A Courses no collateral security is required upto Rs.25,00,000/ and for category B Courses collateral free loan is available upto Rs.10,00,000/

Loan is available at the branch nearer to the place of residence of the student. For studies abroad student is required to purchase an insurance policy covering the loan amount and the premium may be added as a component of loan.

Simple interest is applied on this loan upto the moratorium period. A rebate of 1% is available if interest is serviced during the moratorium period. Further a rebate of 0.50% is available to Girl students and SC/ST/ Disabled students subject to minimum of one year MCLR.

- Rate of interest is linked to MCLR and keeps on fluctuating.
- Repayment of loan can be made in 15 years.
- To avoid any undue delay in processing it is desirable to apply online on the site of the concerned Bank.

The applicant is required to open an account in the Bank jointly with his father and mother who will also be made co-borrowers. In case of married women account is to be opened jointly with husband, father in law and mother in law.

KEEP FIT FOR HEALTHY AGEING

Dr Suresh Kumar Lau

William Shakespeare in his play As You Like It, described the plight of an aged person, "The glamorous youth has come and gone never to return and old age has come never to leave till we breathe our last". Ageing is an inevitable part of the cycle of life. It is a normal process of life that effect to everybody. A person is called old on the basis of his chronological age. Actually it is the functional state of a living organism, that is, the biological age that determines the ageing of a person, and the ageing phenomenon has always been a part of mankind, although not influencing him as much as it does today.

Growth of Aged Population: The increase in life-expectancy at birth is a global phenomenon, which has led to a rise in the proportion of older age group in the entire population all over the world. In the last five decades, with exception of some pockets of South America and Africa, longevity of human life has gone up. In Japan and the Scandinavian countries it is nearly 80 years. The life span has increased in India from 32 years in 1947 to more than 62 years now. The longest documented survival of human being an Indian Man, Aolepolen from Naganand who lived 125 years. In India there are 70 million people above 70 years (6% of the population) likely to touch a hefty 12 percent by the year 2025 when the number will burgeon to about 150 millions. All parts of the society are influenced by the ageing process. According to a UN survey, there will be more than a billion people aged over 60 by the year 2025, and for the first time in history, they will outnumber the young in many countries.

When a person is called old: Ageing is the process of growing old chronologically. It is a normal process of life that occurs in everybody. The biological functioning of an individual declines at different rates within and among people. The world Health Organization classified ageing in four stages; Middle age as 45 to 59, elderly as 60 to 74, old as 75 to 90 and very old as over 90. Physiological, psychological, social, economic and to some extent cultural, spiritual and educational factors determine the expression, attitude and behavior of person and thus influence the quality of ageing.

Ageing Process: With ageing, various functions of a living body deteriorate. There is a Roman Concept that "old age is a disease itself". It is still believed that the greatest misfortune that can befall anyone is the combination of old age, disease and poverty. Every society has its own ways of dealing with its ageing and elderly members. Ageing becomes gradually susceptible to disease due to a decline in the reserve capacity of various functions of the living body. The fundamental organic phenomena which occur in a living body during ageing are a decrease in number of cells, changes inside cells and changes in connective tissues. Women over 35 years lose bone mineral at approximately one percent per year. The process can be reversed with physical activity and calcium and vitamin D supplements. A positive attitude and good health are the pre-requisites of ageing with grace. "elderly". Old age should be anticipated and prophylactic geriatric care must be practiced right from the middle years. Many old age diseases are either preventable or treatable.

The essence of preventing is to reduce the risk of illness and to avoid delaying death.

Physical activity and well-being in older people: Hippocrates is known as the Father of Medicine observes that eating alone should not keep one well, A person must also take exercise. Since the time of the ancient Greeks, Romans and Celts the health benefits of an active lifestyle have been promoted with great enthusiasm.

The human body is designed to undertake a certain amount of daily physical activity. It has an intricate system of muscles and joints that are made for movement. required of earlier generations. If you feel fatigued by the end of the day, wake to early morning lethargy, feel those nagging ache and pains, or experience marital depression and stress. You are a victim of modern-day living. age. Yet, there is a simple solution – regular exercise.

Death in middle age is frequently caused by chronic diseases such as coronary heart disease, stroke, respiratory disease and cancer. It is now well established that many of these conditions were related to adverse lifestyle habits which have been identified by medical research. The important adverse risk factors in Western society are smoking, alcohol abuse, unhealthy eating habits and a sedentary living. Physical activity clearly has benefits is for the health and well-being of men and women of all ages, and activity may well be particularly beneficial for older individuals. Older individuals typically experience decline in physical functioning and increasing incidence of chronic health problems such as cardiovascular disease and osteoporosis. Although some declines with age is inevitable, appreciable evidence indicates that physically active older individuals maintain healthy functioning longer than their sedentary peers do. Research indicates that numerous biological changes take place due to bed rest and insufficient exercise such as: a change in the fat/lean body mass ratio in favor of fat; a drop in oxygen consumption and cardiac output; a diminished sense of balance; a loss of body water and a lessened ability to control the body's internal temperature; fewer red blood cell and an increased tendency to blood clots; a rise in total blood lipids, calcium loss from bones and substantial insensately to glucose.

Activity and Longevity: Unlike machines, the body gets better the more we use it. Not only does regular exercise help to delay the ageing process but there is enough evidence that it can have a rejuvenating affect on the body. Older people, who have been put on regulated physical activity programs, have shown remarkable improvement in health and appearance. Muscles, bones, tendons, arteries get stronger with use. In fact disuse is deadly. Many of our degenerative diseases are caused by disuse. Research shows that people can reverse or at the very least retard many of the biological changes that are associated with ageing. Exercise is the key to health and rewarding old age.

Exercise for the Aged: In the late sixties, seventies or eighties, the rate of decrease in various physical functions with ageing accelerates. As the reserve capacity of older people decreases greatly and their adaptability also declines, they must take good care to exercise more carefully than middle-aged people in the forties or fifties. Obviously physical activities are very important for the people during old age. However, it is not correct that only physical activities preserve their health. To keep good health, it is extremely important to observe disciplined habits, take a balanced diet and ensure physical activity and adequate rest. Exercise from the point of view of the physical fitness is absolutely essential for the old age people. It is beneficial for them to improve their cardio respiratory function with exercises which train the whole body and improve endurance such as walking, jogging, yoga, swimming, cycling and other light sports, which use large muscle groups. Exercise retards the physiological changes that result from ageing. Regular exercise of joints avoids stiffness and atrophy of the muscles.

Adding life to Years: Regular physical activity helps to prevent the undesirable mood changes and social isolation which are unfortunately still frequent problems among our senior citizens. Apart from remaining physically independent of others, the risk of falling and of suffering injuries, including broken bones are greatly reduced. It is accidents of this nature which are so often the precursors of chronic invalidism in the elderly. There are health psychological and social advantages in being active which will reduce the risk of chronic physical disability. Outdoor exercise will maintain contact with other people and will reduce the adverse effects of reclusiveness which is common among elderly and particularly the lone elderly. A sense of insecurity, depression, chronic illness, anxiety and resentment with the life are less common in those elderly who are socially integrated and who keep in touch with the outside world.

Regular physical activity/exercise ensures that chronic illness is less prone to occur in the elderly. Arthritis due to disuse and back trouble will be less of a problem in the active elderly.

Ageing and Fitness: The ability to perform everyday physical activities is important for the quality of life of older people. Performing daily physical activities requires a certain level of physical fitness. Fitness program for the aged have multifaceted purposes: effective improvement of cardiovascular functions, development of muscular strength and stamina: improved joint flexibility, diminished stress, anxiety and tension, slowing the ageing process, coordination and learning of new skills, the risk of stroke may also be decreased, maintenance of good health, situation for social growth and self-image and self-esteem are enhanced. Regular physical activity can improve the total well being and when used in conjunction with proper nutrition, rest, relaxation and regular medical check-ups can help older persons to remain in control of their own lives.

To Ideal Exercise: Walking is a natural exercise and so easy so do as well. It is undoubtedly the best form of activity. It is the easiest and most satisfactory way of throwing off lethargy and discovering a new form of exercise. Such exercise may be primary factor in prevention of heart and circulatory disease. Walking is the most acceptable exercise for the greatest number of people. There is evidence that walking may actually open up narrowed areas in the coronary blood vessels, lessening chances of heart attack.

Guidelines for walking:

- Although a walking program is one of the safest and least strenuous forms of exercise, it is wise to consult your doctor before beginning one.
- Avoid walking immediately after meals or in extremely hot, cold, humid or windy weather.
- Wear properly fitted low-heeled shoes for maximum comfort and safety.
- Do not push your body until you are gasping for breath. If you become tired, stop and rest
- Walk smoothly, putting energy into each step. After a while, you will develop that rhythm and stride most natural for your weight and height.

Exercise is considered to be most important for the aged to maintain their health, both mentally and physically. Regular exercise is the cheapest and most sustaining medicine that can be prescribed for a great number of old age ailments. Regular exercise is one significant contribution we must make towards our own old age well-being.

Mohyal Sabha Ashok Vihar Trip to Haridwar 28th – 29th April 2018

With the blessings of our patrons and elders, Mohyal Sabha Ashok Vihar organized its 3rd Annual trip to Haridwar. The participants included 45 members of our Mohyal brethren from Ashok Vihar region. This occasion was made extra special because, even the eldest members of our family had accompanied us. We hired a A/C tourist bus for the entire trip. We also welcomed our newest members of the community, daughter in law of our Treasurer Smt Analisa Dutta wife of of Shri.Ruchir Dutta.We also welcomed Mr. Mukesh Chand Vaid and his wife Mrs. Kamini Vaid who joined for the first time on our trip.

On 28th April 2018, we began our trip at 7:00 am from Ashok Vihar. After 3 hours of fun and laughter, the bus had its first stop at Moolchand Resorts for breakfast. It was a delightful sight, to see all the members having a great time and taking care of each other. The journey started again, and to engage all the members in the bus, Tambola was played and it was received with great interest. Some ended up winning and well, some didn't win at all, but the zeal that everyone showed was too good and that created an awesome atmosphere all around. We reached Mohyal Ashram Haridwar, around 3 pm. At Ashram we were warmly greeted by the staff. After Lunch we all were allotted rooms and rested for a while.

In the evening, all of us headed towards Har-ki- Pauri, one of the most important places of worship in Haridwar, where thousands of people take a dip in the holy water of the Ganga. Har means God and Pauri means footprints. Har-ki- Pauri thus literally means footprints of God. Hindus believe that a holydip (bath) here in River Ganga will wash off your sins. At Har Ki Pauri, we witnessed the spectacular evening Aarti. While some of us took a dip in holy waters other went for a stroll around the Market place exploring the exoticness of Haridwar .After returning to the Ashram we all had dinner and went to our rooms for a good nights sleep.

The next morning saw us fit and sprightly the month of May, 2018. After breakfast, we had interaction with the members. The members decided to donate Rs.11000/ towards Langar Fund of Mohyal Ashram Haridwar. Some members decided to again take a dip in bone chilling waters of ganga, the warmth of the sun and chilling water of ganga combined, gave a sense of stress less ness to all . Some members decided to visit the holy temples of Mansa Devi and Chandi Devi, while for the rest, it was a pretty laid back afternoon in which the members interacted with each other. The members had delicious lunch in the afternoon at the Ashram. After our tummies full we were again back on the road for our return journey. We started our journey back to Delhi, at 3 pm. It was amazing to see the enthusiasm in the members who didn't stop singing and dancing while on their way back to Delhi. For the evening tea, the bus again stopped at Moolchand Resorts. This small break did wonders in the enthusiasm of members and they felt refreshed.The journey started again with even more enthusiasm than before. In its last leg, the bus stopped for dinner in Ghaziabad at Neelkanth Restaurant. Finally, the bus reached Delhi at around 12 PM and the members were subsequently dropped at their respective homes. It was an unforgettable experience trip and was enjoyed thoroughly by everyone.

We are thankful to Rzd. BD. Bali, President, GMS, with whose blessings we ended up with the successful trip. We would also like to thank the Management and staff at the Mohyal Ashram Haridwar for making our stay very comfortable and for having served us very delicious and hot meals.

50th Marriage Anniversary

It was indeed an eagerly awaited, occasion for the children and grandchildren to have the honour in celebrating the 'Golden Wedding Anniversary' of Shri BM Datta and Smt. Shashi Datta-the revered parents and highly loving Nana Nani Ji, on 13th April 2018 at the Signal's Vatika, Subroto Park, Delhi Cantt. The venue was under the complete control, courtesy Shri Sanjay Chhibber of Gurgaon. The organisational inputs were jointly and fondly shared by all of us. It was infact a gala evening spread out for the honourable guests who had started pouring in; adding charm by their smiles and pleasantries all around. We were delighted to receive Mohyal families, including children, belonging to both Nana Nani sides, though, there were few other intimate families who had graced the occasion. It appeared, more or less, a 'Mohyal Mela'! It was heartening to see the happy gathering grown to about 150 interacting amongst themselves while watching the snippets of 50 years during the review of the proud couple's brief history through visuals, photographs etc.

The young ladies (the two grand daughters) along with their brothers were upbeat in arranging the grand show. The night included, joyful crowd interact activities including helium lantern balloons, chit games,spontaneous exchange of views closely related to the occasion between two grand daughters and the cake cutting ceremony to name a few. The main attraction of the night though was the special musical performance of the mother daughter duo Preeti Mohan and dearest Nani Shashi Datta. Earlier in the day all members of the family including those who had come from far off places like Hyderabad, Kanpur, Ambala, Canada and other parts of NCR Delhi, attended a well organized Havan at the Arya Samaj Mandir at C3, Janakpuri. Many dear friends from the neighboring places were also with us attending the religious ceremony while praying to Almighty for His blessings!. We also pray for His benediction for long, healthy and happy life of our Nana Nani Ji. On this happy occasion our dear beloved Nanaji,Shri B M Datta, C1A Janakpuri, mob 9811954464, made a donation of Rs. 1100/- to the GMS.
